Extension Activity
Academic Year- 2021-22

Title of the Activity: Plastic Free Environment

Date / period: 13th May 2022

Venue: Seminar hall

Objectives of program: To aware about polythene plastic bag pollution.

Making our environment an eco-friendly zone.

Brief Report: Plastics do not undergo degradation, stay in the soil for many years, which affects soil fertility and degrades the soil quality. When plastic enter the drainage and sewerage system, they block the pipes and the drains causing waterlogging. The improperly disposed of food bags, when eaten by animals, cause stomach and intestine related diseases which even lead to suffocation and death. Plastic items find their way to the river and other water bodies, which are then swallowed by fish, seabirds, and other marine species. The waste from the plastic manufacturing industry is thrown directly into the water bodies, thus affecting the chemical property of water, causing hazards on a very large scale. Proper disposal and usage of plastic discards can reduce these problems. A set of regulations should necessarily be followed to stop these problems. There are primarily three ways of managing plastics: • Reduce • Reuse • Recycle

In the academic session 2021-22 Department organized Extension Activity, in which we aware our students about plastic pollution and asked them about reuse of plastic bottles for planting the plant. The duration of this activity was three months. Students planted the sapling in plastic bottle, observe them by taking care and after grown they submitted it on the date they asked.

The program conducted on 13th May 2022 under the presidency of Honble Principal Dr. R. S. Jaipurkar. Dr. U. S. Wasnik in her speech gave brief introduction about the Extension activity of the department. Dr. R. S. Jaipurkar sir addressed the students and insist students to avoid use of single use plastic. The program ended by vote of thanks.

What are heritage trees?

Heritage Trees are trees that have been formally recognized by City Council for their unique size, age, historical or horticultural significance. Under the proposed amendment, a tree with an estimated age of 50 years or more shall be defined as a heritage tree. It may belong to specific species, which will be notified from time to time. Experts believe that in addition to the age, the state climate change department (which will be implementing the Tree Act), should also consider a tree's rarity, its botanical, historical, religious, mythological and cultural importance in defining a heritage tree. The local Tree Authority will have to ensure tree census to be carried out every five years along with counting of heritage trees.There are a range of criteria that designate a tree as a heritage tree. These attributes—both material and non-material—makes the tree stand out. The material attributes could be age or size of the tree. It could also be the result of the form or shape of the tree. Further, it could be that the tree is a rare species or a tree at risk of being lost. The non-material criteria relate to cultural and aesthetic aspects. It could be that the tree has a historical or cultural association either with a person, an event or a place. It could also be a tree associated with myth or folklore. A comprehensive definition of a heritage tree by Aird (2005) is given below:

"A notable specimen because of its size, form, shape, beauty, age, color, rarity, genetic constitution, or other distinctive features; a living relic that displays evidence of cultural modification by native or non-native people, including strips of bark or knot-free wood removed, test hole cut to determine soundness, furrows cut to collect pitch or sap, or blazes to mark a trail; a prominent community landmark; a specimen associated with a historic person, place, event or period; a representative of a crop grown by ancestors and their successors that is at risk of disappearing from cultivation; a tree associated with local folklore, myths, legends or traditions; a specimen identified by members of a community as deserving heritage recognition."

Under the proposed amendment, a tree with an estimated age of 50 years or more shall be defined as a heritage tree. The Maharashtra government will make amendments to the Maharashtra (Urban Areas) Protection and Preservation of Trees Act of 1975, to introduce provisions for the protection of 'heritage trees'.

Scanned with CamSc

Many of the heritage trees especially the Ficus are keystone species in the environment. The old trees serve as important roosting, nesting sites or as a food source for many species of wildlife.

The major criteria for heritage tree designation are age, rarity, and size, as well as aesthetic, botanical, ecological, and historical value. Heritage tree ordinances are developed to place limits upon the removal of these trees.

Heritage trees in India

In Benglauru city, the capital of Karnataka, is situated a 150 feet tall New Caledonian Pine or Cook Pine (also known in Asia as the Christmas tree) (Araucaria columnaris).

1. In Bengaluru is the DoddaAalada Mara or the Big Banyan (Ficusbenghalensis) estimated to be around 400 years old and whose canopy supported by aerial roots extends over 4 acres.
2. There are other famous banyans across the country such as the 550-year-old banyan in the BalSamand Palace in the desert city of Jodhpur, Rajasthan, that has a huge colony of bats roosting amongst its branches.
3. The banyan in Kolkata Botanical Garden, in Kolkata in West Bengal, with a canopy extending across 4.67 acres, and the 450-year-old banyan in Chennai, Tamil Nadu.
4. Another ancient banyan is found inside the Allahabad Fort and is protected by the Indian Army. The tree is visited by hundreds of pilgrims during the KumbhMela, which is held once in 12 years.
5. A tamarind tree in Gwalior, in the central Indian state of Madhya Pradesh, is planted on the tomb of Tansen, the famous singer and one of the jewels in the court of emperor Akbar.
6. Tamarind stands in the premises of the Osmania General Hospital in Hyderabad, Telangana, with a plaque that says, "This tree saved 150 lives".
7. While Dehra Dun may still be a small town, heritage trees are also present in crowded megacities such as Mumbai, the business capital of India and capital of the Maharashtra state. Scattered across the city are around 120 baobabs (Adansoniadigitata), African trees believed to have been brought to India a thousand years ago by Abyssinian and Portuguese traders. These are extremely rare 'green monuments' and are classified as to be protected according to a tree census conducted of trees in Mumbai.

2017-18

Extension Activity Report

Department of Environmental Science

Academic Year 2017-18

1. Title of the Practice

Training to forest frontline field staff for grasslands management and habitat management in Protected Areas of India.

2. Goal

To train and motivate the forests field staff for grassland management and habitat improvement in Protected Areas.

Concept

To develop nutritive grasslands for herbivores in Protected Areas by Eradication of invasive weeds from grasses. To enrich the grasslands by broadcasting fodder grasses seeds in pre monsoon. Taller perennial, fodder grasses biomass management by cutting the grasses. To conduct field workshops for grasses seeds collection and weed eradication. To provide action plan for grassland management to field staff.

3. The Context

Grasslands are the green ground cover of protected areas in forest. The grasses are useful for grazing habitat of wildlife (Herbivores). The rehabilitated areas of Melghat Tiger Reserve and other tiger reserves have more cultivated lands, these lands are converted into the good grasslands by the field staff and forests labors.

The challenges in grassland management are woody species, brush woods, Weeds invasive. The eradication of weeds play vital role to increase the productivity of grasslands. Eradication of weeds, grasses seeds collection, enrichment of grasslands by seed sowing useful to develop and manage the good nutritive grasslands. The regular field guidance in grasslands in each season increases the confidence of field staff to develop good grasslands for the herbivores and works for habitat improvement and maintain prey predator relationship.

As per the request and invitation by Principle Chief Conservator of Forest and Head of Forest Force Telangana State the field workshop was organized to restore the grasslands and enrichment in August 2018 and May 2019.

The field Workshops was organized for root level frontline staff and the forest officers.

B) Field staff gets confidence to manage the grasslands.

C) Increase in the density of herbivores.

D) Habitats : Grazing , Browsing improved.

E) In relocated areas of the tiger reserves the cultivated lands are converted in to good grasslands.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Funding by state government to the forest department for grasslands management inadequete. Grasslands Management is time bound program.

The grassland management practices includes

1. To give the field training to the forests field staff in the natural grasslands and relocated areas of the Protected Areas in each season of the year.
2. To know the exact area of grassland year wise by demarcation of grassland area by GPS.
3. Grasses identification training to field staff by local names and scientific names.
4. Weeds identification with local names and their flowering season.

The grasses, shrubs, weeds, wild legumes, trees united to form the grasslands. The composition of the grasslands depends upon the topographical, climatic and edaphic factors. The grasses are of different types like annual, perennial, smaller, taller, intermediate, palatable (Fodder) and non-palatable (Non Fodder). The grasslands are of three types Smaller, intermediate and taller on the basis of the height of the grasses. The fodder or the nutritive value of the grasses depends upon the % of nutrients, fiber, ash and the water in aerial parts of the grasses. The grasses forms the green cover of the forests ecosystem and acts as major producers of the ecosystem.

The grasslands are composed of Grasses, weeds, Shrubs as browsers, wild leguminous plants, wild fruit bearing plants, water bodies (Seasonal /permanents), bamboos etc. The grasslands plays important role in wildlife habitat improvement like grazing, browsing, breeding, veloving, nourishing etc. The Palatability of grasses and their distribution in grasslands determines the utility percentage of the grasslands for grazing wildlife habitat.

The ecological significance of the grasses :

1) The grasses acts as soil binders in forests ecosystem.
2) Increases water holding capacity of the soil.
3) Maintain the nutrients level in soil.
4) Maintain humus % in soil.
5) Acts as good producers for herbivores and omnivores.
6) Maintain grazing food chain in forest ecosystem.
7) Nutritive value of the grasses maintains the health of the wild herbivores in Protected Areas.
8) Habitat management of wildlife in forests areas.

The grassland management practices include.

1) To maintain the % of grasses in forest.
2) To increase the % of palatable or fodder grasses.
3) To maintain the % of wild leguminous plants for biological nitrogen fixation practices.
4) To eradicate the unwanted weeds from the grasslands in rainy, winter seasons.
5) To manage the grasses biomass by cutting practices.
6) Enrichment of the grasslands by broadcasting the seeds of wild legumes and more nutritive grasses.
7) The grasses seeds collection.
8) Brushwood cutting in proper season.
9) To prepare the grasses seed bank in each forest range areas.
10) Grasses seed broadcasting for enrichment of the grasslands.
11) To motivate and train the forests field staff for grasslands Management.
12) Regular monitoring of the grasslands by field staff.

Grasslands Management Practice

Soil : The earthy material present in troposphere belt of atmosphere is termed as soil . The process of soil formation is pedogenesis. The soil texture includes clay, silt, sand, loam, murum. The soil colors are black, red, white. Depending upon types of soil grasses distribution is variable, for example murmi soil : Themeda, Heteropogon, Black soil : Dicanthium, Iselima, Chloris, Dry soil : Schiema, Moist soil : Cynodon.

Soil moisture: Soil moisture depends upon the soil water (Capillary water, gravitational water, underground water), water bodies in grasslands, river water etc. Grasslands plays an important role in soil moisture conservation.

Grasses : Grasses are the monocotyledonous plants of the family Poaceae (Angiosperms). The advanced, modified family with modified root system, modified leaves, modified floral structure and seeds. The adventitious root system plays an important role in soil conservation, water retention, moisture conservation and soil binders.

Grasses are of two types : Fodder and non fodder, annual, perennial.

Annual grasses : Apluda , Chloris

Perennial grasses : Cynodon . Dicanthium

Grasses can identify in flowering stage in October –November.

After identification with local names classify it in fodder or non-fodder category.

Prepare the grasses herbarium by using blotting paper and herbarium sheet in October –November.

Grasses seeds collection : Season of grasses seeds collection – November, December for annual or perennial grasses, except February for Themeda and Heteropogon.

Grasses seeds drying and storage : Grasses seeds after collection dry in direct sunlight for 10 days label it and sore in larger storage bag with proper ventilation. Label of grasses seeds include following data :

Grasses seeds collection data

1) Local name ----------
2) Botanical name ----------
3) Date of collection ----------
4) GPS Coordinates ----------
5) Bit number / Compartment number ----------
6) Name of seed collector ----------

Grasses seeds enrichment: grasses seeds after drying enrich in selected areas for enrichment of grasslands.

- Site selection in May
- Soil suitability for grasses
- Topography
- Enrichment season : May last week
- Demarcation with labelling
- GPS coordinates of enrichment

Grassland : grasslands are of three types

1) Smaller grasslands
2) Intermediate grasslands
3) Taller grasslands

smaller and intermediate grasslands are most useful for grazing habitat.

Grasslands biomass management : Cutting of taller palatable and perennial grasses before flowering is grasses biomass,

Season: October First week, December

Weeds: herbs which degrade the grasslands are termed as weeds. Weeds are annual and perennial.

Weeds Management: Eradication or uprooting of weeds before flowering and fruiting is termed as weed management.

Weeds uprooting season: July and October

Weeds should be eradicated before fruiting and when soil is soft.

Wild Leguminous Plants: The concept of wild relatives of cultivated plants in a simple and lucid manner and described them „„as the wild plant taxon that has an indirect use, derived from its relatively close genetic relationship to a cultivated plant. Wild legumes are essential for providing a source of biological nitrogen fixation for enriching soil fertility (15–40 kg fixed N/ha), reduction in land degradation, disease breaks and for mitigating climate change. N2 fixation values of forage and fodder legumes will be less reliable and also estimates of % Ndfa (nitrogen derived from atmosphere) of fodder legumes in those lands.

Root nodule

The bacterium, rhizobium japonicum, colonizes the roots and establishes a nitrogen fixing symbiosis. Nitrogen is the most commonly limiting nutrient in plants. Legumes use nitrogen fixing bacteria, specifically symbiotic rhizobia bacteria, within their root nodules to counter the limitation. Rhizobia bacteria fix nitrogen which is then converted to ammonia. Ammonia is then assimilated into nucleotides, Amino Acids, vitamins and flavones which are essential to the growth of the plant. The plant root cells convert sugar into organic acids which then supply to the rhizobia in exchange, hence a symbiotic relationship between rhizobia and the legumes.

Root nodules occur on the roots of plants (primarily Fabaceae) that associate with symbiotic nitrogen-fixing bacteria. Under nitrogen-limiting conditions, capable plants form a symbiotic relationship with a host-specific strain of bacteria known as rhizobia.

The common wild leguminous plants in grasslands are :

Legumes : Atylosiascarabaeoides, Crotalaria juncea, Crotalaria oryxense, Indigoferamoniliformis, Indigoferalinifolia, Indig oferatriga, Lathyru saphaca, Microtylomainiformis, Phaseolus vulgaris, Rhynchosia minima, Rhyncosiamaxima, Ureriapicta, Vignaaconitifolia, V. catjang,V. radiata var. radiatsa, V. radiata var. sublobata, V. trilobata , V. trilobata var. trilobata, Glycine soja.

Wild tur

Wild Udid

Season of seed collection : November

Season of seed drying : December –January (20 days in direct sunlight)

Seeds enrichment : June

Importance of wild leguminous plants

- Increases fertility of soil
- Changes soil chemical composition
- Promotes the growth of grasses
- Legume presence significantly increased soil fertility, abundance and/or diversity of soil biota.
- Increases fodder value of grasses
- Enrichment of grasslands with leguminous plants.

- Legume presence is a good forest management practices. ▪ Increases association of grasses, heterogeneous grasslands ▪ Biological nitrogen fixation increases the % of N in soil.
- Increases the biomass of grasses
- Legumes can improve the resistance of soils to ecosystem disturbances, legumes may enhance the resistances of soil physico-chemical and biological properties to the ecosystem disturbance.
- Leguminous crops are important because they increase the fertility of soil by addition of nitrogen. In fact a nitrogen fixing bacterium named Rhizobium forms symbiotic association with the roots of leguminous crops and fixes nitrogen. The nitrogen fixed by the bacterium is also released in the soil thus contributing to soil fertility.
- Increases the humification of soil which is useful to maintain the soil nutrients, soil moisture in grasslands ecosystem.

Browsing plant species : the plants which provides food to wildlife are browsing species , Examples – Bamoo, Bahunia, Ber, Bel Leaves, Tiwasetc

Wild fruit bearing plants : Ber, Jamun, Tendu, Amla, Hilda, Belaetc

Grass Seeds of Dicanthium annulatum

Stored collected grasses seeds

Procedure for grasses seed broadcasting in selected areas for enrichment / restoration

- Prepare the action plan for grasses enrichment.

- Dry the grasses seeds for 2 days in direct sunlight in May 3rd week to remove the moisture

- Mix the grasses seeds as per soil conditions or topography.
- Black soil – Dicanthium, Chloris, Digitaria.
- Red soil – Themeda, Heteropogon.
- Mix and rub the grasses with wooden stick before sowing.
- Take the grasses seeds in plastic container of suitable size.

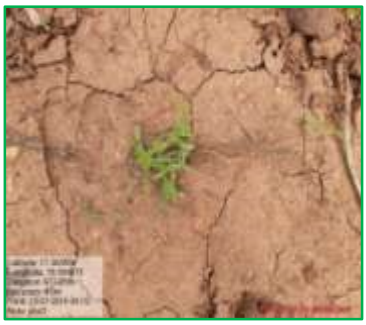

- Take soil in container and add few quantity of suitable seeds in container.
- 250gm seeds in 2 kg soil with clay texture.
- Add few drops of water by hands to prepare the moist mixture.
- Shake the pot by two hands for 5 minutes to prepare grasses seeds ball of suitable size.

Grasses seed balls

- You can simply add the punch of grass seeds in loose soil by covering after adding soil.
- The seed balls are used in older grassland but degraded by weeds.
- Simple punch of grasses seeds in open loose / fertile soil with good clay and moisture.
- Demarcate the soil area where grass seeds are added to observe the rate of seed germination after 17 days by good shower of rains.

Germinated grasses seeds after 17 days

- Grasses seeds to be broadcasted in last week of May or first week of June, as per rainfall pattern of forest area and climate.
- For wild legumes seeds no need of seed ball simply throw seeds 200 gmsin ½ hectares or 500gms per hectare with grasses mixture to get positive association.

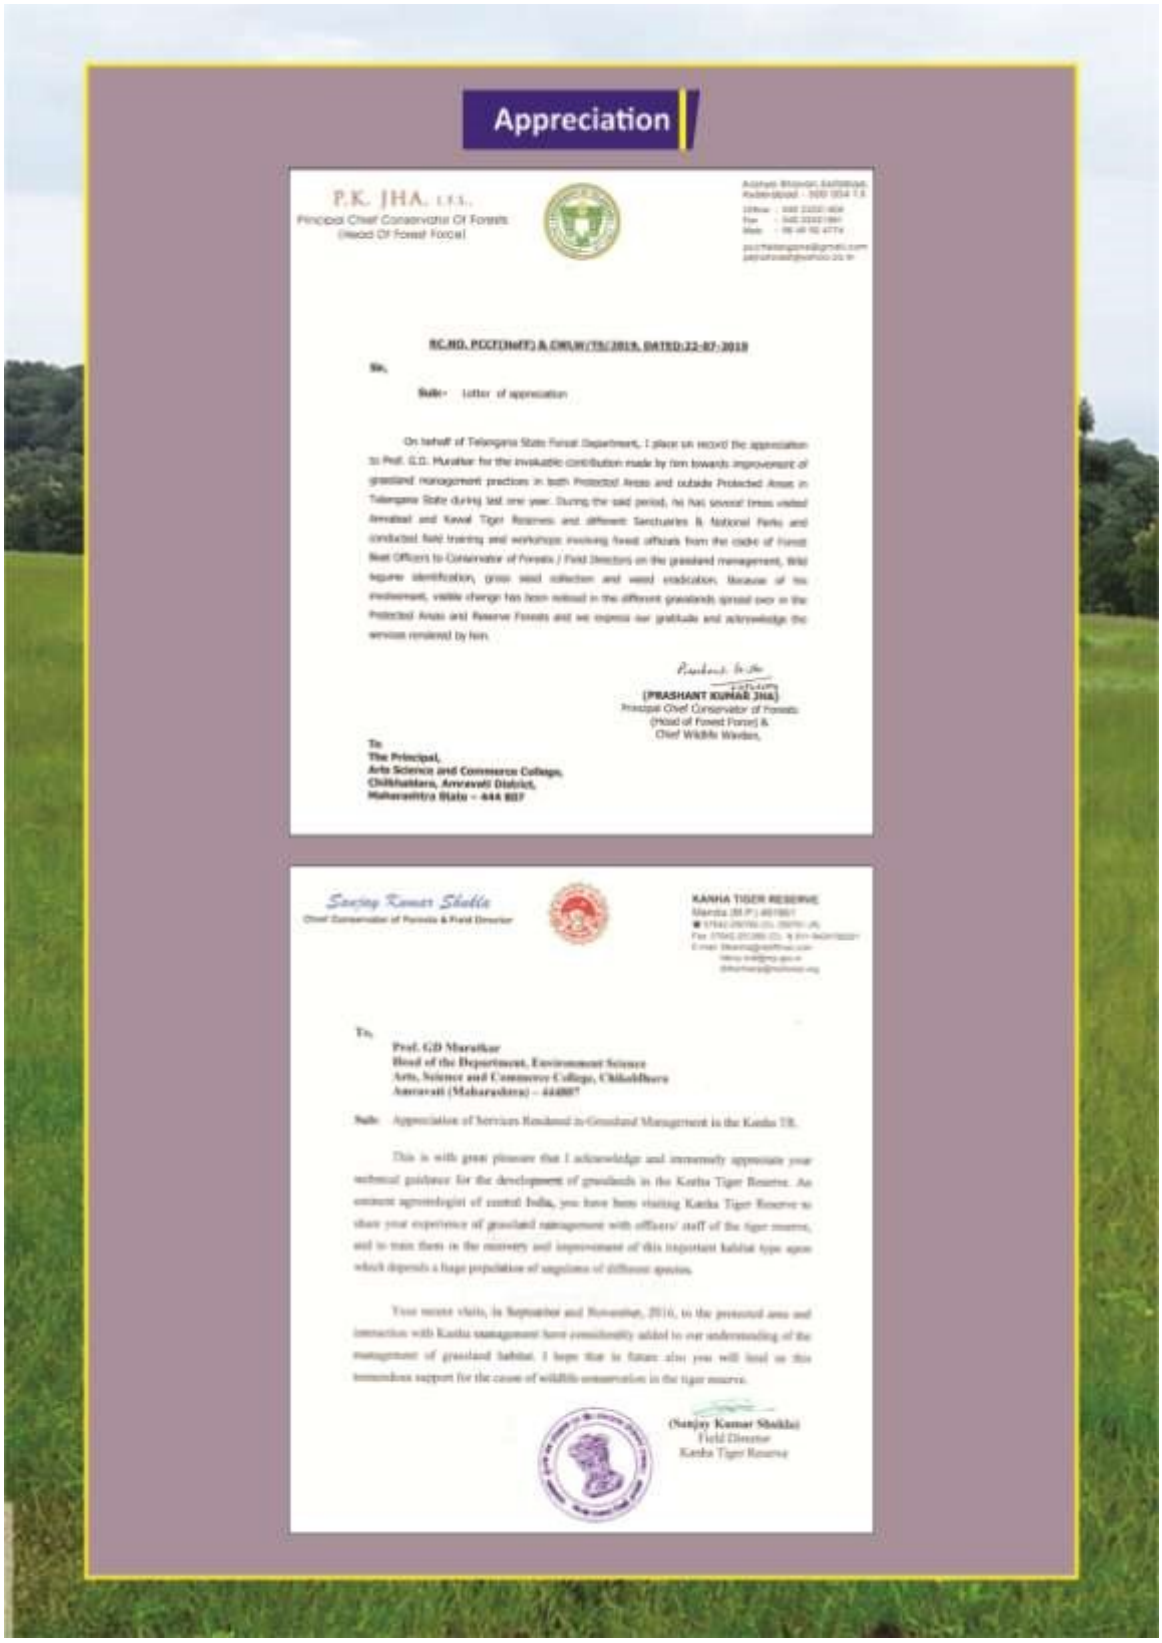

Wild Legumes seeds

- After one month the results will be as under.
- Monitor the seed germination results regularly and take photograph of each and every step and maintain the record in grasslands management register.

This is with great pleasure that I acknowledge and immensely appreciate your technical guidance for the development of grasslands in the Kanha Tiger Reserve. An eminent agrostologist of central India, you have been visiting Kanha Tiger Reserve to share your experience of grassland management with officers/ staff of the tiger reserve, and to train them in the recovery and improvement of this important habitat type upon which depends a huge population of ungulates of different species.
Your recent visits, in September and November, 2016, to the protected area and interaction with Kanha management have considerably added to our understanding of the management of grassland habitat. I hope that in future also you will lend us this tremendous support for the cause of wildlife conservation in the tiger reserve.

Sir,

Sub: Appreciation for grassland improvement work in protected areas of Karnataka State.

This is to acknowledge with gratitude your immense contribution to the capacity building of our field as well as supervisory staff of the many protected areas for management and improvement of the grass lands.

The grasslands are an important component of the food pyramid of the PAs. Therefore, personally I feel that the increase in tiger numbers in B.R.T, Nagarahole & Dandeli in Karnataka in recent years can be attributed partly to your efforts.

I have no words to thank you for taking out your time to visit not only Tiger Reserves but also the lesser known sanctuaries and national park of the State multiple times in a year to train the staff and follow up on their progress on the ground. It has helped the staff in identification of palatable grasses and timely eradication of weeds, thereby constantly improving the quality of the grass lands. The training manual prepared by you will go a long way in further improving their capacity.

Once again we are grateful to you for your efforts and time and hope that you will continue to be associated with our protected areas in future also.

Yours faithfully,

Principal Chief Conservator of Forests

Concept

Forest Ecosystem in Protected Areas shows distribution of grasslands, the % of forest should be 33% and grasslands 7 % ; but recently grasslands areas are decreasing year by year due to invasion of woody species and invasive weeds. Herbivores require grasslands for grazing, breeding, nesting, hiding habitats for wild habitat management.

Grasses are annual, perennial, soft, course, palatable and non palatable. Grasslands are of three types smaller, intermediate and taller. Soil present in forest ecosystem determines composition of grasslands. Fodder value of grasses determined by chemicals, nutrients, fiber % before and after flowering. Grasslands development and management in Protected Areas like Tiger reserve, Sanctuary is important work and to train frontline staff is regular work from 2012.

To know the soil characters, profile for grassland development in naturalpastures, degraded areas of forest and lantana removed areas for restoration ofgrasslands. To manage the grazing, browsing, breeding, nesting habitats.

To train the frontline staff for

- Grasses, weeds and wild leguminous plants identification from forest areas.
- Eradication of weeds from grasses for habitat improvement.
- Brushwood management.
- Geo mapping of grasslands.
- Grasses seeds collection, storage and enrichment.
- Restoration of grasslands.
- Enrichment of grasslands.
- Wild legumes seeds addition in grasslands.
- Soft and course feeder herbivores habitat management.
- Ecological restoration of degraded areas by grasslands development.

The Context

The Protected Areas includes Tiger Reserves, National Parks, WildlifeSanctuaries, the wildlife like Herbivores, Omnivores, Carnivores

habited in theprotected areas. The grasses are the producers, soil binders, provides chemical energyto the wildlife in the form of fodder species. The protected areas forest are with 2-4.5% grasses naturally it should be 6 %-7%. Now recently natural grasslands and relocated areas of the Protected Areas are developing in to good grasslands for the herbivores. Grasslands are the green ground cover of protected areas in forest. The grasses are useful for grazing habitat of wildlife (Herbivores). The threats to the grasslands are soil degradation, loss of soil moisture, leach out of nutrients of the soil, forests fires, weed infestation, woody species encroachment, and change in grasslands Composition, exotic species and decrease in nutritive value of the fodder grasses. The faculty member of the department of the college has the good expertise in the grasses, weeds and forests flora identification and their nutritive values.

The grassland management practices includes

1. To give the field training to the forests field staff in the natural grasslands and relocated areas of the Protected Areas in each season of the year.
2. To know the exact area of grassland year wise by demarcation of grassland area by GPS.
3. Grasses identification training to field staff by local names and scientific names.
4. Weeds identification with local names and their flowering season.
5. Browsing species identification with local names.
6. Field training to collect the grasses seeds and wild legumes seeds.
7. Weed eradication programme two times in a year
8. Grasslands enrichment by seed broadcasting in May - June season.
9. Grasses biomass management practices in mosaic pattern.
10. Wild fruit trees identification and addition in relocated areas.
11. Complete training programmes are organized by the CCF & Field Director of the respective Tiger Reserves in each season.

The practices in the field

1. Grasses identification – October.
2. Weeds identification – August.

3. Wild leguminous plants identification –September.
4. Weeds uprooting three times in each year.
5. Grasses seeds collection – September to February.
6. Wild legumes seeds collection - November – December.
7. Grasses seeds addition in selected areas for grassland development.
8. Observation of grasslands.
9. To know the composition of grasslands.
10. Brushwood management to reduce woodland.
11. To prepare grassland management register.

The detailed reports of field workshops for frontline staff are attached in the extension activity report with Text, Images with Geo-tag and appreciation letters.

Results of Extension activity

- Capacity building of frontline staff of Protected Areas.
- Field interventions for habitat improvement in Protected Areas.
- E Herbarium of grasses and identification.
- Documentation of bench marks and results.
- Comparative analysis before and after work.
- Ecological restorations of grasslands.
- Improvement in wildlife habitat.
- Frontline staff get trained for grasslands management.
- Forest Department in India actively participating in grasslands management.

Entrepreneurship Development & Industry Institute linkage Cell is working in the field of self employment. Such types of workshop can provide an opportunity to the student for their better future. EDIIL cell is planning for the commercial production of these types of lamps. We will provide all the facilities and kits to the students and they will manufacture the lamps. These lamps will be purchased by the cell and will be sold through its outlets. This will provide some financial help to the students and they can earn while learn
